English Spelling	Continue to use your spelling techniques with a mixture of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rainbow words – write your spelling out in pencil. Afterwards, each letter in your spelling should be a different colour like a rainbow. • Backwards words – write your word normally in pencil. After that, write your spelling backwards. Make sure you copy your spellings correctly! • Funny sentence – put your word in a funny sentence. If my spelling was ‘occasionally’, I could say “I occasionally take my cat for a walk.” • Hidden words – draw a picture and hide your spellings in it. It doesn’t have to be a masterpiece. For example, draw a picture of a tree in a field. You could hide your spellings going up the tree trunk and in the leaves. Choose at least 8 spellings to practice.
English Comprehension	Now that we’re animal experts, I think it’s getting too easy for you! Let’s look at something a bit different. Football! Usually around this time of year, the final of the FA Cup is played between the last two teams in the tournament. Unfortunately, it has been cancelled this year but let’s learn about it so you can be experts next year.	‘FA Cup’ comprehension task
English Writing	Story Starter: I know that it isn’t Halloween yet, but I do like a scary story. Do you think you can finish my story? I’ll give you the introduction: Swish...Once again the blade of his oar sliced through the pure, blue waters, perfectly in rhythm with his partner’s strokes. So, it was true - there was new life on the islands of the mysterious Southern Hemisphere. It was time; time to prepare for another invasion. But first they had to navigate the boat through the treacherous ocean.
English Punctuation & Grammar	Onomatopoeia is the use of words that sound like the noise they’re trying to create such as ‘splash’ or ‘crash’, ‘fizz’ or ‘swish’.

	Is it possible to begin a sentence with an example of onomatopoeia? Can you end a sentence with an example of onomatopoeia? What about trying to start and end a sentence with an example of onomatopoeia?
English Reading	You may have finished the books that were in your original pack. Continue to read at home. Choose an appropriate book. If you do not have any books to read at home, some websites have opened up their libraries to view online. For example, you can view basic copies of Roald Dahl texts through the following website: https://epdf.pub/roald-dahl.html They're very basic but can be read on a tablet. Remember that you have got a book review template in your reading records. If you finish a book, why not write a report telling us all about it. When we get back, we can share what we've read and give our classmates some good ideas on what books to read. If you don't have a template for a book review, please contact me and I'll see if I can get one put on the school website.	Appropriate reading book

Muscles: We've looked at skeletons. Let's look at another important part of the human body...muscles! Our muscles come in all shapes and sizes, and no two people have the same. There's a presentation that should be able to load on your computer or tablet. Once you've looked at it, complete the worksheet. It's so interesting to find out how our bodies work! This is the video link https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/clips/zj2kjxs	I'm so proud of our country and how we have all coped during this difficult time. But, did you know that our country has a very interesting history? Some of the people that changed our history were the Vikings. They were fierce warriors that invaded our country many years ago. Watch this video for an introduction: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gA6b-H7VM3U I have three questions for you. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Where did the Vikings come from? • How did they get to Great Britain? • What did they wear when they fought? 	There's a lot more going on under your feet than you think! The globe is a very interesting place and it's made up of many different bits and pieces. Play the presentation on your tablet or PC, then answer the questions. See if you can remember the four features that make up our globe. This is the video link you need https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/clips/zwwxn39

Last week, you created your own flag of your own country. Well done, you're now what's known as a 'vexillologist'! Now, I'd like to draw a cityscape of your made-up country's capital city. Here is an example of a cityscape: https://www.pinterest.co.uk/pin/126593439498460876/ See if you can do something similar too!	Last week I asked your where we thought money came from. I hope you had lots of questions for your adults and maybe you did a little bit of independent research. Now I'd like you to have a think about ways you can pay money? When you go to a shop with your adult, how do they pay? Why is it important to be careful with money?	Let's get some more mindfulness in our lives. Yoga is more than stretching, it can help you clear your mind of thoughts and help you be more productive. I have attached 3 more poses for you to master. Try these first thing in the morning and I'm sure it'll help you start your day!

I had a real fun time with my boys and this quiz. I've attached a document with a family quiz. This should be a bit of fun for everyone!	When I was younger, I really liked a song called 'what is love?' Ask your adults, I bet they can sing or at least hum the song to you! All fun aside, it's a really great question. What is love? Is it a real thing that you can touch? How do you know when you feel it? Tell me what you think it is.	On the other side of the world, Sydney in Australia has one of the best aquariums. Luckily for us, they're allowing virtual tours.
